About us

Kailasha Nexus® is a global outreach firm specializing in strategic collaborations, public relations, institutional engagement, and high-level coordination across corporate, public, and government sectors.

The organization operates at the intersection of business, institutions, media, and strategic partnerships, enabling clients to build credibility, expand networks, and strengthen their influence through structured outreach and professional engagement.

With a focus on long-term partnerships and responsible growth, Kailasha Nexus® supports organizations, leaders, and institutions in navigating complex ecosystems while creating meaningful opportunities for collaboration and expansion.

Rakesh Narvar Founder & CEO

With over 20 years of experience building meaningful connections in the real world, I operate at the intersection of Global Outreach, Public Relations, Events & Branding, and Strategic Joint Ventures.

My work is rooted in relationships – cultivating trusted networks with leaders, visionaries, and institutions across industries. I specialize in creating powerful collaborations, facilitating high-level engagements, and designing strategic platforms that elevate brands and individuals with purpose and precision.

From executing impactful events and strengthening brand positioning to enabling business support systems and cross-border partnerships, my focus has always been on alignment – aligning vision with opportunity, people with purpose, and ideas with execution.

A significant part of my journey includes contributing to the evolving landscape of Aviation rise, where strategic networking and ecosystem building play a pivotal role in growth and expansion.

Beyond business, my path is equally shaped by a deep spiritual journey – one that guides my leadership philosophy, relationship-building approach, and long-term vision. I believe sustainable success is built not only on strategy, but on integrity, intuition, and conscious collaboration.

Our Vision & Mission

VISION

To become a globally trusted platform for strategic partnerships, institutional engagement, and cross-sector collaborations that empower organizations and individuals to achieve sustainable influence and impact.

MISSION

Our mission is to build strong bridges between corporations, institutions, government sectors, and global partners through transparent communication, strategic networking, and innovative outreach solutions.
